

Young People's Management Group

The Young People's Management Group is a new AYA group in which young people can have a say as to what decisions are made within AYA.

One representative from each AYA project goes to the meeting and puts forward any concerns or views from volunteers about what could be changed or done better, and what works well. The minutes from each meeting are given to the trustees and are an agenda at their meetings. The Young People's Management Group meets every two months, and members take it in turns to chair the meetings. The first meeting was on the 10th May, and the next meeting will be held on the 28th June as it was brought back a week. I will be attending this meeting to try and find out more about the Young People's Management Group and will meet some of the members.

Calum Grainge
AYA volunteer